L. S. Ayres & Co. ÆOLIANS FOR LODGES

It is customary to furnish lodge rooms with a musical instrument of some kind, the most popular being a plane or an organ. The Aeolian possesses advantages for this purpose, which suggest themselves on reading the catalogue. It need never be silent for want of a performer. Any member of the lodge can play it. That this remarkable instrument is particularly adapted to and exactly supplies the need of all secret societies, no one who has heard it will, we believe, for a moment dispute. All odes and marches can be played on an Aeolian by any one present, and, in addition to overtures, other selections can be played on opening of lodge or during intervals in lodge work, thus adding greatly to the effectiveness of the regular work and inter-

COUNTY PRINTING INJUNCTION.

Commissioners Cannot Make the Letting Till December. The Board of County Commissioners is temporarily restrained from awarding the county printing contracts for next year. The injunction was granted by Judge Harvey, of the Superior Court, on the application of Cyrus Clark, who charged that the board was about to let the contract at a loss to the taxpayers. The printing contract includes blank books and stationery supplies for all the county offices. The work amounts to about $15,000 a year, and at present is being furnished by the Sentinel Printing Company.

The action of ...e plaintiff was based on the law of 1875. That year the Legislature enacted a statute requiring contracts of this character to be let during the month of December of each year. The petitioner averred that if the commissioners were permitted to award the contracts before the first of the coming month the law of 1875 would be violated. County Attorney Brown held that there was some question about the validity of the law of 1875. The bill which contained the clause, it was shown, did not get to the Governor until March 15, and some authorities contended that the act was not valid. In 1881 the commission which revised the statutes over-looked this clause entirely, but the Supreme Court afterward decided that it was constitutional. The last Legislature in passing the fee and salary law inserted a clause which provided "that county officers shall procure at the expense of the county such books, blanks and supplies as shall such books, blanks and supplies as shall be required by reason of this act, and for the transaction of the business of the county." This act, the county attorney urged, re-pealed the act of 1875. He is not sure, he says, that the commissioners have the right to advertise for bids for county printing at any time, although he believes the board can do so advantageously. Commissioner Reinecke says there has been nothing fraudulent about the letting of the contracts, and denies that any particular firm has been favored. The contract for 1895 was awarded last December to the Sentinel Printing Company, who, Mr. Rein-ecke says, submitted the lowest bid for the

BARGAINS MAYOR TAGGART'S CABINET HAS

Wants Training School Removed from City Hospital.

The Mayor's cabinet meeting last evening was a very interesting affair, a numnovel specialties being given. Perhaps all cabinet meetings are interesting, but for the first time Mayor Taggart threw open the doors and made it an "open meeting," while heretofore the public has had but the crumbs. The most striking feature of the meeting, and that which came last, was the production of those long-talked-of civil-service rules, over which Mr. Taggart has labored so thoughtfully. The meeting was ready to adjourn when Mayor Taggart handed a copy of the rules to Colonel Holloway and asked that they be read. The members smiled during the reading and all regretted that Dr. Morrison was not present. No provision is made by the rules for a civil-service board and when Mr. Taggart was asked if such a board was to be chosen he pointed to the heads of departments for an an swer. Nothing so unique in the way of civil-service rules has ever been devised before. The rules read:

"In order to promote efficiency in the city government the following rules and regulations are hereby adopted for the purpose of administering the affairs of the city departments and of ascertaining the comparative fitness of applicants for office and of appointing and promoting those found to be the best fitted, without regard to political opinions or services.

"Rule 1. The appointment of employes in the various departments of the city government shall be made by the respective heads thereof, and in ascertaining the comparative fitness of applicants for position and promotion each department shall conduct such examination as, in the opinion of the appointing officer or board, will most quired for a position are such that in board assistance from experts is desirable, such experts may be selected to as-

"Rule 2. Every applicant for position must furnish to the appointing officer or board proof of good moral character, business capacity and mental and physical ability to perform the required work, and evidence of such civility and courteousness of dispositon as will give assurance of faithful and satisfactory public service. Proof of bad character or dissolute habits shall exclude such applicant from appoint-

"Rule 3. Applications for examination and appointment may be made at any time on blank forms designated by the various departments of the city government, each department prescribing the forms to be used by applicants for position in such department. Each applicant must file with the appointing officer or board a statement in his own handwriting cona statement in his own handwriting containing his name, age, residence, place of birth, former and present occupation and previous engagement, if any, in the public service, which statement must be accompanied by a certificate of good moral charpanied by a certificate of good m panied by a certificate of good moral character and business ability to perform the required work, signed by at least three reputable citizens of Indianapolis.

"Rule 4. Teamsters and street laborers shall be selected by the foreman of street repairs, subject to the approval of the Board of Public Works, after producing satisfactory evidence of their capacity for manual labor and their habits as to industry and sobriety.

"All rules and regulations in force in any dministration. At the conclusion of the reading Mayor Taggart stated that he believed the different departments had a better knowledge of the character of men needed in the city work than any outside board. He asked what action would be taken on the rules.

Mr. Mack, of the Board of Safety, said:

"Before we take a vote I would like to ask, have we made all of the appointments

The demonstration which followed told Mr. Mack that all necessary changes had been made, while one member of the cab-inet said there was nothing in the rules to prevent further changes if "advisable." The rules were accepted without one dis-

DR. CLINE'S SURPRISE. Aside from this little surprise of the Mayor's the most interesting thing was a statement made by Dr. Cline, of the Board of Health, which was offered while the proposed improvements of the City Hospital were under consideration. Dr. Cline said: "I would suggest that the training school for nurses be separated from the City Hospital. The presence there of the nurses is the cause of constant confusion and discord. It is said that two families cannot live quietly under one roof. Every superintendent who goes to the hospital has to contend with this discord. There is a con-stant conflict. I think the training school should be taken from the hospital and the room now occupied by the nurses used for hospital purposes."

There was no discussion on this point, but members of the cabinet looked surprised, for the training school for nurses has come to be regarded as necessary for hospital work. Later in the meeting Dr. Cline explained his meaning in making his statement was to get the school out of the building and to make provision for it else-where, from where nurses could be employed when needed.

Mayor Taggart reported that he and Mr. Moore, of the Board of Works, visited the hospital building yesterday afternoon. Mr. Taggart said he had never seen a better kept and cleaner building than the hospital He was satisfied that the management had been all that could be asked. Everything was in fine condition, and Mr. Moore said he never saw a better-kept institution in his life. Mr. Taggart reported as to the building on which improvements are recommended, and he said the hospital is bad-ly in need of better accommodations. The north wing he styled a disgrace to the city, and not worth one dollar of repairs. The laundry at present is in the basement, and the fumes from it go through the building. Mr. Taggart advised the building of a new wing, the purchase of new bollers, the erection of a laundry separate from the building, and interior repairs. He said such should be done as soon as the city is able to appropriate the money, which will probbe after the returns for this year's taxes are made and the controller may know the amount to be expected for next

The Board of Health brought up the hospital question, recommending the appropritroller Johnson was very watchful during the meeting concerning expenditures, and some one called him "a second Trusler." which Mr. Johnson accepted as a compli-ment. Mr. Johnson wanted to know some thing definite regarding the estimated cost of improvements, and advised that Mr. Moore, of the Board of Works, furnish an estimate of the improvements to be made. Mr. Moore intimated by his silence that he did not regard such work as one of his duties as a board member. Not a word was said about having Building Inspector Bunting furnish such estimate and plans, although Mr. Bunting has designed many hospitals, public buildings and churches in his time. The Board of Health was instructed to have an architect prepare the INSPECTING GAS METERS. One very amusing thing of the meeting was the solemn manner in which the cabinet awarded a contract for the inspection of the gas meters in use in city buildings. The cabinet is not a board, nor is it granted by the charter the right to make contracts. The charter simply says the heads of the departments shall meet at least once a month and consider matters of interest to the city. Nevertheless, it was decided on ballot to have the inspection made at the similar to that of Mrs. Gall-a general failclared that it was "so decided that the contract be let." Mr. Johnson made a vigorous stand against any such move. Mr. Pearson, of the gas company, has offered to inspect the meters free of charge, allowing the city to name one expert to witness the inspec-tions. Mr. Johnson said he would trust the gas company. He wanted an estimate of the probable cost of the inspection, but no one could tell him the number of meters.

say a word advocating economy. Mr. Tag-gart took up the cause of economy, and cautioned each department to be as careful as possible and see if less money than has been appropriated can be expended.

The Board of Safety urged on the cabinet the necessity of having more policemen, but no action was taken, although the question was urged by communication and by word. It was said that the city has outgrown its present system. Six policemen, if no more could be had, were asked. The Board of Works, the Department of Law and the Department of Parks reported the progress made during the month. Controller Johnson has arranged the estimates prepared by Mr. Trusler showing just how much each department has to run on the coming year. Mr. Johnson evidently realizes that he has a hard job before him in holding in check the different departments, each of which could expend the entire appropriation in a Mr. Taggart brought a number of vague thoughts to the cabinet as food for thought. He advised that sidewalks around buildings and Mr. Curtis replied that an ordinance had been prepared governing the question.

Mr. Taggart wished to know if property owners had to pay for natural gas which they did not get. Mr. Curtis replied that they did not, but a property owner had the right to file a suit if he did not obtain what his contract calls for. "And get his gas shut off," spoke up some one.

The resignation of Col. W. R. Holloway as clerk of the Mayor's cabinet was accepted, and by a rising vote he was thanked DELIVERS EELS AT YOUR KITCHEN.

Water Company Ready to Furnish Live Fish Through Water Pipes.

The courthouse janitor is a sober man. Were he not he would probably be in the hospital now, for yesterday morning, when he began to turn on the water from the water faucet in the basement, there slid out a greaty, slimy-looking thing, which resembled a snake. The janitor was frightened, but gaining his composure he carried the product of the water company to City Sanitarian Ferguson, who pronounced it a amprey. Had the janitor not, in the excitement, turned off the faucet, the lamprey might still be wiggling as a living evidence of the purity of the city water, but in turning the faucet the reptile was ruptured. The parts continued to move for several hours in the Board of Health office, where readily and accurately test the relative the lamprey was viewed with interest by competency and fitness of the persons ex- many people. The city sanitarian is puzzled. and he wonders how such a thing could work its way through the water mains and a small pipe to the very door of the Board of Health office. There is no evidence that the water furnished by the company is not direct from wells and through filters, but some one has said a fish in the milk is strong circumstantial evidence. The lamprey delivered to the Board of Health is about six inches long. The lamprey is considered a delicacy by many, but they are not, as a rule, served in water. People who have eaten them say they are better fried. Many people would call the lamprey an eel, for it belongs to the eel family, or else the eel belongs to the lam-

The water company is unable to explain the presence of the lamprey in the water. It could hardly come from the wells and there is absolutely no way in which it could get through the very fine filters at the station. One explanation is that a lamprey egg got in the reservoir and there the lamprey was born and raised. If such is the case the citizens may be consuming lamprey eggs in their water and there is no evidence that such a diet is unwholesome. Incidentally it might be said, the find of yesterday has caused the board to begin an investigation of the city water.

CHURCHES VISITED BY THIEVES.

Meridian-Street, Central-Avenue and St. Paul's Entered by Them.

Thursday night thieves broke into the Meridian-street M. E. Church through a department of the city government are hereby abrogated, and the rules now adopted are applicable to all changes in officials and employes made during this ing the doors opening off the hall locked, they pushed in a transom over a door leading into one of the class rooms, after which they climbed into the room. Nothing of value is kept in the room, but the doors of a large cabinet were pried open and the cabinet ransacked. In their hurry the intruders overlooked two banks containing years, with a view of purchasing a new site small sums of money contributed by the Sunday-school classes. The men departed through a window opening into the back

Later in the night they entered St. Paul's was done for the purpose of permitting an opening to be made for a stove pipe. The thieves got in by wrenching off the sheet iron from the window. They crossed the church to the vestry, where they broke into a number of cabinet and desk drawers. No money is kept in the church, and the thieves got nothing for their trouble. They were evidently searching for money, as a valuable sterling silver communion service, worth perhaps $200, was not taken, although it was removed from the cabinet and left standing on a desk. It is reported the Central-avenue M. E. Church was also visited by marauders, but nothing of value was taken so far as is

PURDUE ALUMNI DINNER.

First Annual Affair Held at the Denison Last Night.

Last night in the ordinary of the Denison there was inaugurated the first of a series of annual dinners which will be given by the Purdue Alumni Association of Indianapolis. There were a number of persons from out the city were in attendance, among were President Smart, Dr. and Prof. Thomas Stanley Coulter of Purdue University. Couiter presided most happy manner and introduced the series of toasts with remarks on college patriotism. Prof. Alford responded to "Purdu's Tributaries;" Dr. J. N. Hurty to "The Crossroads School of Philosophers;" Mr. H. A. Beck to "The Purdue Man in Law;" President Smart to "The Rededication;" Field Captain Jameson and Cloyd Marshall, of the football team, to "Purdue Cham-pions," Hon. Sylvester Johnson, trustee of the university, spoke upon the work of the trustees and their relations to the college, highly complimenting Dr. Smart's management of the school finances. For the ensuing year officers were elected as follows: President, James W. Noel; vice president, J. R. Francis; secretary, Dr. Joseph R. Perry; treasurer, Robt. F. Wiselogel; board of the directors, Dan. L. Dorsey, Ira Jaques and John S. Wright, Purdue University has large representa-tion in the city and the association is in a flourishing condition.

DEATH OF MRS. ALBERT GALL. The Wife of the Ex-State Treasurer Passed Away Last Night.

Mrs. Louise Gall, wife of ex-State Treasurer Albert Gall, died at 9 o'clock last night at the age of forty-eight. Her health began to fail last spring, but it was not until last Wednesday that her illness took a dangerous turn, and then she sank rapidly. Mrs. Gall was a prominent member of the English Lutheran Church, and took an active part in the benevolences of that institution. She was also active in other charitable work, though of a retiring, modest nature. Her domesticity was a strong trait of her character. She was the daughter of Heinrich Ruschaupt, one of the German pioneers of this State, who came to Indianapolis in 1833, and died of the cholera in 849. Mr. Ruschaupt's wife died in 1881 at the age of seventy-three. Mrs. Gall was one of a family of seven children, all of whom, excepting Mrs. Charles Rittenberg, who now lives, died before reaching the age of fifty. The cause of their death was rate of $2 a meter, and Mr. Taggart de- ing of health. The wife of Chris Brink, who died a few years ago, was a sister. Mrs. Gall was married in 1864, and has always lived in this city. Besides her husfour children-Edward, Albert, jr., Fred and Bertha-survive her. The funeral will be Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from the residence of her son, 1009 North Illinois street.

A BIG PARDON RECORD

LARGE NUMBER OF CONVICTS GOV MATTHEWS HAS TURNED LOOSE.

Total of Fines Remitted During His Term Compared with Other Administrations.

Reference to the records shows that Gov. Matthews has beaten the record of his immediate predecessors in the extension of executive clemency. In the three years that he filled the office of Governor, General Hovey gave pardons to 138 convicts. Gov. Chase was in office a little over a year and during that time he pardoned sixty-two prisoners, making a total of two hundred malefactors who were released during the four years that constituted the full term for which Governor Hovey was elected. Governor Matthews has been in office two years and eleven months and during that time he has granted 196 pardons. The Governor still has a year and a month to serve, and the present rate maintained will show a total that will prove that the pardoning power, under the present administration, is being abused.

The record of fines remitted is even more glaring by comparison. During Governor Hovey's three years there were thirty-six remissions and during Governor Chase's one year there were seventeen remissions, a total for the four years of fifty-three. During the two years and eleven months that Governor Matthews has been signing his name to State papers, he has remitted eighty-four fines. The susceptibility of the Governor to sighs and tears, and to the demands of persons of influence deepens the conviction that the next Legislature should, in some way, restrict or hedge about the pardoning power.

"Big-Hearted" Governor. The statement of the friends of Rev. William E. Hinshaw at the time of his conviction that they would move at once in Open the direction of securing a pardon, has materialized. Mr. Robinson stated that he had recently been in Hendricks county examining into the case and sounding the sentiment of the people. He says he finds that many who have believed Hinshaw guilty have come to the "sober second thought" stage, and are willing to admit that a terrible mistake may have been made. There is scarcely a lawyer at the bar, he says, who believes that Hinshaw was convicted on the evidence, but that the finding of guilty was the result of an excited public sentiment. Mr. Robinson stated that some of minister's friends wanted to wait until the Supreme Court has passed on the motion for a new trial, but the majority were opposed to this, for the reason that Governor Matthews may have gone out of office, and they prefer to "rest their chances with a large-hearted, just man" rather than with one of whom they have no knowledge.

It is likely, therefore, that a petition will be at once put in circulation, and Mr. Robinson says he believes the most ponderous document of that kind that has ever been put on file in the Governor's office can be Warden Hert, of the Prison South, who was in the city yesterday, states that Hinshaw has been put to work in the packing room of the brush department. He says he has fallen readily into prison ways and promises to become a model convict. Everybody who comes to the prison asks to have Hinshaw pointed out.

NO OFFER FOR BOARD OF TRADE. Doubtful Whether the Property Will Be Sold This Year.

The Indianapolis Board of Trade has been considering the advisability of selling the old building occupied by it for a number of and erecting a modern building more suitable to its needs. Several weeks ago the board of governors decided to offer the property for sale and the secretary was Cathedral through a small room on the directed to advertise for bids. Advertisesouth side of the building. The glass has been removed from a window opening into this room and sheet iron substituted. This the day for opening bids. For some cause or other no real estate investors have appeared who want to purchase the property. Yesterday Secretary Smith said no bids had been received, and it is very doubtful as to whether the property will be sold at this time. Mr. John W. Murphy, chairman of the finance committee, which has the matter in hand, says no steps will be taken towards securing a new site unless the old building can be sold.

When the subject was up for discussion several weeks ago some doubts were expressed as to the possibility of finding a purchaser and the property was offered for sale as an experiment. The building is adjacent to the buildings of St. John's Academy and St. John's Church. It was rumored the church was a prospective pur-chaser and had offered $80,000 for the build-ing and lot, but Father Gavisk, rector of St. John's, says no such offer has been or will be made as the church has enough land to meet all requirements for years to come. He says an unsuccessful effort was made by the Board of Trade to sell the property to the church.

Local Reform Club.

The Local Reform Club held its second meeting at American Federation of Labor headquarters last evening, and a large number of labor's representatives were present. Permanent officers were elected as follows: President, Milton Farnham; secretary, J. W. Folger. The several difficulties existing in labor circles in the city were discussed, and representatives of the unions involved will be invited to be present at the next meeting. President Mc-Bride, of the American Federation of Labor, will be requested to deliver a lec-ture after the New York convention on the "Distribution of Wealth."

The treasurer of Blackford county paid in $10,897.40 and received $5,514.55. Up to date seven counties have made their settlements.
